Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments, filed July 29th, 2005, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 34-45 under USC 102(e) have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of new found art.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 34-45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Helferich (U.S. PG Pub No. 2005/0176451 A1).

4. As per claim 34, Helferich teach a method of transmitting information which contains a request for specified services on an e-mail system comprising: connecting a sending computer to a communication network; submitting the information from the sending computer to the communication network; inputting the information onto a website server; transmitting, by the website server, the information to a mail center, receiving the information at the mail center; storing the information by the mail center; and sending an alert message to a receiving computer indicating that the information has been received (see figs 1, 2a-2c, paragraphs 0003, 0013, 0014, 0016, 0035, 0050, 0100, 0104).

5. As per claim 35, Helperich teach a method further comprising inputting the information into a software program on the website server that interprets the information (see figs 1).

6. As per claim 36, Helperich teach a method further comprising storing the record on a data storage system (see figs 1).

7. As per claim 37, Helperich teach a method further comprising utilizing a Uniform Resource Locator in the alert message to point the receiving computer to the mail center to access the information.

8. As per claim 38, Helperich teach a method further comprising retrieving the information by utilizing the Uniform Resource Locator (see figs 1).

9. As per claim 39, Helperich teach a method wherein the information includes an authentication database (see figs 1, 2a-2c, paragraphs 0003, 0013, 0014, 0016, 0035, 0050, 0100, 0104).

10. As per claim 40, Helferich teach a method comprising confirming by the mail center that receiving computer has received the information (see figs 1, 2a-2c, paragraphs 0003, 0013, 0014, 0016, 0035, 0050, 0100, 0104)..
11. As per claim 41, Helferich teach a method for transmitting information that contains a request for specified services from an e-mail service comprising composing information on a sending computer, sending the information, which includes an authentication database, to a software program on the sending computer, comparing the authentication database with a database on the sending computer; sending the information from the sending computer to a mail center; processing the information at the mail center, and sending the information from the mail center to a receiving computer (see figs 1, 2a-2c, paragraphs 0003, 0013, 0014, 0016, 0035, 0050, 0100, 0104)..
12. As per claim 42, Helferich teach a method further comprising authenticating the receiving computer (see figs 1).
13. As per claim 43, Helferich teach a method further comprising retrieving the message from the software program (see figs 1).
14. As per claim 44, Helferich teach a method further comprising utilizing the mail center to authenticate the receiving computer (see figs 1).

15. As per claim 45, Helferich teach a method further comprising confirming by the mail center that receiving computer has received the information (see figs 1, 2a-2c, paragraphs 0003, 0013, 0014, 0016, 0035, 0050, 0100, 0104).
